Order Affects all But Beef Roasts, Steaks; Effective Midnight Tonight

WASHINGTON, May 3. —(AP)—The Office of Price Administration today made all meats except beef steaks and beef roasts ration free, effective at midnight.

The removal of ration points, announced by OPA Administrator Bowles at a surprise press conference, covers all cuts of pork, veal, lamb and mutton; all beef except the steaks and roasts; beef hamburger, beef steaks, all kinds of variety meats, sausage, ready-to-eat meats, canned meats and canned fish.

The action was taken, Bowles said, because lend-lease buying had been halted for the time being; also because of reduced army and navy demands, the crowding of storage space and the hope that the action will bring more meat to market this summer.

Because of the wide variety of meats now becoming available without the spending of red ration points, OPA announced that housewives would have to make their red points last twice as long—stretching over a four week period instead of the present two week period.

Validated Points Weekly
In the past OPA has validated 30 red points every two weeks. Starting next Sunday OPA will validate 30 points every four weeks. Red stamps R8, S8 and T8 become valid Sunday for the purchase of butter, margarine, cheese and cheese products, evaporated milk, beef steaks and roasts—the only items now requiring red points—but no more red stamps will be validated until June 3, four weeks hence.

OPA officials indicated they were fairly certain the new status would endure for three or four months at least, but Bowles declined to prophesy beyond that time, stating that the cattle feed situation was the governing factor. A bad growing year, he indicated, would mean restoration of rationing next winter.

Point values for beef steaks (except flank, made point free) and roasts will remain the same, ranging from 7 to 13 points a pound.

The sudden action removed from rationing 57 per cent of the volume of products originally covered by red points. It removed 85 per cent of all meat.

Methodists Plan Crusade For Christ

Five Objectives In 25 Million Post-War Plan

KANSAS CITY, May 3.—(P)—Methodists were called upon today to undertake a $25,000,000 post-war reconstruction program to be known as a "Crusade for Christ." Plans for the crusade, which some church leaders said would be the most significant work of this Methodist quadrennial general conference were disclosed in a report by the committee of 21.

The crusade, as proposed, would have five major objectives, the report stated.

- (1) To establish an international organization for permanent peace.
- (2) To rebuild church property and rehabilitate peoples in war areas.
- (3) A church-wide evangelistic campaign.
- (4) Cultivation of Christian stewardship.
- (5) To increase enrollment in Sunday schools and related organizations.

Fund Divisions
More than $14,000,000 of the proposed project would be used in foreign missions, almost $9,000,000 for home missions, and $1,500,000 for the world council of churches, the church's bureau of research, the American Bible Society, etc. This money would be in addition to the regular mission work by the church, and would be the report declared, only a portion of what really is needed to get the post-war job done.

A special six-month campaign would be started Jan. 1, 1945, for contributions, pledges to be payable by Dec. 31, 1945. The 762 convention delegates must approve the report before it becomes effective.

Germans Report British Evacuate Imphal

LONDON, May 3.—(P)—The German radio today quoted dispatches from Tokyo as declaring British troops had evacuated Imphal, near the Burmese border in India, and had taken up positions just outside the town.

"About 30,000 Allied troops are in this area," said the broadcast, which had no confirmation from Allied quarters.

Fathers Over 26 Not Needed

By William F. Arbogast

WASHINGTON, May 3.—(P)—Predicting that upwards of half a million men under 26 now holding occupational draft deferments will be inducted this year, Representative Costello (D-Calif.) said today selective service should need "few, if any, fathers over 26 this year."

Costello, chairman of a house military subcommittee on draft deferments, said 1,100,000 men under 26 are deferred because of employment on farms or in essential industry. In addition, he said, revised selective service figures

Hospital Door Delivery at Sedalia Base

Light Plane Lands On Field; No Ambulance Needed

"Hospital Door Delivery" became a reality at Sedalia Army Air Field recently when a light plane of the 1st Troop Carrier Command landed on a small road-way directly in front of the station hospital and deposited a patient. The plane, designated officially by the army as a Vultee built L-16 is normally a two-place passenger ship. It is designed to accommodate a litter or stretcher on a special portable platform which fits over the seat in the rear of the cockpit.

If a crash occurs away from the troop carrier base, the plane takes off with a pilot and two doctors. With two-way radio the plane can direct the ambulances, also radio equipped, to the scene of the accident. This proves invaluable when the site of the crash is far off from highways and well-traveled roads.

On-the-Spot Attention
With the ability to land in a small space, the plane can easily set down adjacent to the crack-up and the two doctors can render on-the-spot medical attention.

If one of the injured should require immediate surgical treatment, the improvised litter platform is set up in a few minutes over the rear seat. With the patient loaded aboard, the pilot can signal ahead to the base medical officer any vital information concerning the condition of the injured passenger. The small ship is landed in front of the hospital door, within a space of 100 feet, and the patient is unloaded and taken directly to surgery.

Saves Moving
Originator, Flight Surgeon Lt. Col. Carl T. Doering, of Springfield, O., commanding officer of the Station Hospital at the SAAF in commenting upon the organization of the "Hospital Door Delivery" stated, "the value of handling an injured person as few times as possible is of the utmost importance."

"It is our hope that this service will eliminate the system of flying a patient from the scene (Please turn to Page 4, Column 6)

McKittick Charges Clark Is Isolationist

KANSAS CITY, May 3.—(P)—Roy McKittick, attorney general, opposing Sen. Bennett C. Clark for the Democratic senatorial nomination, in a surprise speech last night asserted that Clark had failed to support President Roosevelt in preparing the country to defend itself.

McKittick said Clark was an isolationist "and that's what we're going to vote upon. That is the issue."

The Partisans disabled the locomotive and delayed Mussolini for two hours, said the broadcast.

Blame Eleanor For Use of Gas Prejudice

Believe Mrs. James Roosevelt Should be Treated Like Others

WASHINGTON, May 3.—(P)—Rep. Brown (R-Ohio) remarked today before a committee investigating black markets that "Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt's use of gas has done more to prejudice people against the gas rationing program than anything else I know."

Brown declared every member of the committee had received letters saying "if Mrs. Roosevelt can get all the gas she wants for traveling, I'm going to have what I need to transact my business."

Rep. Harris (D-Ark) interposed that "this is an investigation of black marketing and has nothing to do with Mrs. Roosevelt."

"What the people think of Mrs. Roosevelt and her use of gas does have an important effect on how well they obey the gas regulations," Brown replied.

Shad Polier, head of automotive rationing enforcement for OPA, said he would be "proud" to defend the first lady from criticism of her traveling.

"I frankly don't think the First Lady needs any defense from us," Brown answered. "There's been no attack made on her here."

The name of the president's wife was brought into the hearing (Please turn to Page 4, Column 5)

Headlights On Tractors

WASHINGTON, May 3.—(P)—The weather bureau reported today that farmers in some sections of the midwest are equipping tractors with headlights so they can work at night to overcome spring seeding delays caused by excessive wet weather.

In Iowa, farm work is being rushed 24 hours a day, the bureau said. Generally speaking, spring plowing and seeding is two to three weeks late on a wartime crop production program calling for the largest acreage on record.

Many important farming areas—particularly in the Missouri and Mississippi river valleys—continue to be plagued by heavy rains and floods. The bureau estimated that more than 100,000 acres are winter wheat in Missouri had been lost through flood damage.

S. R. Rinehart Killed in Fall From Window

Salesman From Nevada Was Guest At Sedalia Hotel

S. R. Rinehart, better known to his many friends in Sedalia as Roy, a traveling salesman for the Morton Salt Co., was killed about 4:45 o'clock this morning when he fell from a seventh story window of the Bothwell hotel. His body dropped to a court roof on the north side of the hotel building, four stories below his room.

Rinehart arrived in Sedalia on Tuesday evening and went to the hotel for a room. It was not until 1 o'clock this morning that he was able to get the room and only after a reservation had been cancelled. He left his room and visited with friends, returning to the hotel shortly before 3 o'clock.

Victor Eisenstein, a former Sedalian now of Marshall, who had room 505, heard the crash of Rinehart's body on the roof and heard a groaning sound. He called the desk clerk, James Meagher, who immediately notified P. E. Gosser, manager and H. H. Lantz, general manager of the Sweet Hotel system, who is here on company business. Messrs. Gosser, Lantz, Meagher and Herb G. Young, 1423 East Ninth street, a bell boy, went to the third floor to investigate.

Body on Roof

Upon investigating they found Rinehart on the roof and he apparently died within a few seconds after he had fallen. The local police were called, conducted an investigation and notified Dr. W. T. Bishop, coroner.

Dr. Bishop, after viewing the body ordered it removed to the McLaughlin mortuary. He stated, upon concluding his investigation, that an inquest was not necessary inasmuch as the evidence indicated Mr. Rinehart had evidently gone to the window for fresh air and tumbled out.

Mr. Rinehart has been employed by the salt company for about 24 years and has been making the Sedalia territory for many years. During his visits to Sedalia he contacted and made many friends.

He was born in July, 1889 in Rinehart, Vernon county, Mo., and had resided in Nevada practically his entire life. He was married to Miss Roberta Morrison of Nevada.

Survivors

Surviving him is his widow and one son, Corporal S. R. "Steve" Rinehart, Jr., in the United States army, now serving in England. Also surviving is his mother, Mrs. S. J. Rinehart, who resides with his sister, Mrs. Shiles of Hotchkiss, Colo., and a brother, Ray Rinehart of Nevada.

Mr. Rinehart was also a cousin of Mrs. Maurice Peterson, the former Miss Isabel Dodson of Sedalia. His brother-in-law John Morrison of Nevada is coming to Sedalia this afternoon.

Olsen received 20,000 votes and Heaton 19,626. National Committeeman James C. Quigley of Valentine has said Olsen should withdraw from the race if he does not plan a vigorous campaign, but Olsen has asserted he will not quit his war plant job to campaign nor withdraw.

Olsen will oppose Governor Dwight Griswold, Republican seeking his third consecutive term.

J. Norman Lodge, Associated Press war correspondent, who has had a varied experience in newspaper coverage on many war fronts, was in Sedalia today on business, and paid a visit to the Democrat-Capital Lodge returned to the United States from the Pacific theatre of war because of illness.

Prior to the war with the Japanese, Lodge was in England for the Associated Press. He covered stories on the war after the German invasion of France, and of the bombings of England.

After the bombing of Pearl Harbor, and when the United States forces started "cleaning up" islands held by the Japs, he was shifted by the news association to the Pacific.

He suffered nine attacks of malaria and was sent back to the United States to recuperate. Since his arrival he has been making talks over the country. Since his return he has made more than 125 talks in bond rallies, to defense plant workers, and at army camps and naval stations, telling of his experiences.

Receives Many Awards

He has received the Purple Heart; the Croix de Guerre, a French decoration; Italian War Cross; World War ribbon with six stars for six major engagements; Army of Occupation, all for service during World War I, in 1918. He also received the honor of the White Rose of Finland, in 1940; Mexican Expedition Medal; the ribbon for the European theatre of the present war, with one star for major engagement; Asiatic ribbon with four stars for that many engagements; decoration for the Norway expedition from Britain; and a decoration for participating in the Murtanski Convoy to Russia.

After his return to this country the War and Navy departments refused to permit him to return to the Pacific theatre of war, because of his illness and have been using him on a speaking tour. Lodge hopes soon to be able to return to the battle fronts again, and continue his writing career.

Lodge is a friend of Frank L. Martin, an Associated Press war correspondent who is now in India. Martin was formerly city editor of the Sedalia Capital.

Campaign for New Old Age Pension Law

Petitions for Needed Signatures Will be Circulated

JEFFERSON CITY, May 3.—(P)—A campaign for initiative enactment of a new law authorizing the state to recover old age pension payments from pensioners' estates was announced today by a newly organized "Citizens Welfare Committee."

Petitions will be circulated to obtain the required signatures of five per cent of the voters in nine congressional districts to place the proposal on next November's general election ballots.

The committee said "This effort to enact the lien and recovery law is being made as a step toward checking the rapidly mounting cost of Missouri's public assistance program. The proposed law is designed to protect the interests of both the deserving recipients and the state's taxpayers."

"Missouri's old age assistance rolls now contain the names of approximately 31 per cent of those in the state 65 years of age or over, as compared to the national average of 22 per cent. It is believed that the effect of the law will be to reduce the number on the rolls and to curtail the number of new applications for pensions."

No Accurate Estimate

"While no accurate estimate can be made, it is anticipated that savings of several million dollars each biennium may be effected without reducing amounts paid to deserving recipients."

Under the proposal, the state would take a lien on the property of each person given an old age pension. The amount of payments received would be taken from the pensioner's estate after his death.

All present limits on the amount of property a person may own to be eligible for a pension would be removed.

A similar measure was defeated in the 1941 and 1943 legislative sessions.

Members of Committee
Keeton Arnett, director of the Missouri public expenditure survey, was active in organization of the citizens welfare committee.

Members are: J. R. Baker, Fulton; C. F. Bloker, Caruthersville; B. F. Bonfoey, Kirksville; R. E. (Please turn to Page 4, Column 5)

Drowns In Lake

LAKE OZARK, May 3.—(P)—Jim Hayden, over 70, disappeared from his home along the little Nangua river near the Lake of the Ozarks Friday, and part of his clothing was found yesterday on the river bank.

Flood conditions hampered a search for him.

Report Many Hogs Dying

Numerous reports are being received of hogs that are dying very suddenly that are running on pasture, says J. U. Morris, county extension agent. The probabilities are that these hogs are dying from cocklebur poisoning. Hogs are very susceptible to cocklebur poisoning and a great many animals are apt to be lost unless proper precautions are taken.

The cocklebur plant is only poisonous when it is in what is known as the two-or-three-leaf stage. The plants lose their poisonous properties when they have grown to the stage where fifteen or more leaves are on the plants.

Hogs that are poisoned with cocklebur plants may not show any symptoms as death may occur very suddenly. Some animals may lie around for a few hours and then die. Some show symptoms of paralysis and complete exhaustion before dying. There is no elevation in temperature. Post mortem examinations usually disclose no abnormal conditions of any of the internal organs. Washing out the stomach contents and finding sprouts of the young cocklebur plant is about the only way a positive diagnosis can be made.

There is no effective antidote for cocklebur poisoning and pastures that are infested with cocklebur plants should not be used for hogs until the plants have grown beyond the poisonous stage.

Some Highways In State Are Still Closed

By the Associated Press
Flood waters of the swollen Mississippi river were receding as far south as Cape Girardeau, Mo., but elsewhere in the midwest and southwest the threat of high water was mounting.

In central and eastern Texas, the toll has risen to eight dead, 13 injured and one missing following torrential rains, hail and heavy winds. The Neches river in East Texas was three miles wide in some places.

Government forecasters warned that serious flood conditions also existed along the Trinity, Brazos and Sabine rivers and numerous minor streams in Texas. Heavy livestock loss was expected.

In western Missouri the Osage river swirled out of its banks after further rains Monday night. For 300 miles from the Kansas border to the river's confluence with the Missouri, the danger was serious.

Fisherman Club Speaker

Del Ilmberger, well known local fishing expert, told how to tie flies and demonstrated the art as principal speaker at the regular meeting of the Lions club held at Hildebrandt's Cafe at the St. Francis hotel at noon today.

He exhibited various types of material used in making flies—such as hairs from squirrel and skunk tails, rooster feathers, plumage from foreign birds.

The speaker explained the action of different types of flies and plugs and also the difference between dry and wet flies. Ilmberger mentioned that in some respects Missouri is behind the times in conservation measures and in stocking streams with fish and opined that much more could be done in the way of publicity advertising the fine streams in this state.

A guest of Lions member R. R. Conn was Cpl. Rickie Passerell, who spoke briefly and non-technically concerning the use of radio in the army air force.

Al Gardner was program chairman and Milton Overstreet presided.

Robert Settles of Montgomery Ward Co. was inducted as a new member.

Hit Chemical Center; Also Rail Yards in France; Activity in Italy

U. S. Heavy bombers struck the Calais area of France today and an official British spokesman declared that the unprecedented aerial offensive had rendered the railroads of Belgium and Northern France incapable of carrying peak loads necessary to repel the approaching invasion.

The daylight attack extended the fateful air invasion of Europe, first phase of the real thing, into its 19th consecutive day.

A ministry of economic warfare spokesman said rail yards in a 100 mile belt from Cologne to the Bay of Biscay had been bombed so effectively during March and April that only military and coal traffic could pass. Trains no longer can be formed in that section, he said. With the manpower shortage acute, the spokesman said the Germans were using one-armed soldiers, women and boys of 14 to run the trains.

KANSAS CITY, May 3—(AP)—

Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves Tuesday heard a story of a man who stole $19,000 worth of diamonds and bartered and traded them for a mere $400 in his quest for liquor.

Dick G. Preble, 31, formerly of St. Joseph, Mo., and former employee of the Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., pleaded guilty to the theft of the diamonds from an air express shipment at the municipal airport.

Judge Reeves sentenced him to two years in prison with 10 years of probation, and recommended that Preble be placed in a hospital for treatment as an alcoholic.

All but $6,000 worth of the diamonds were recovered.

Plans To Give Up Chickeries

Otto C. Botz Fails To Get Relief Asked From OPA

Otto C. Botz, owner of the Missouri State Chickeries, at Jefferson City, formerly of Sedalia, who has been embroiled in legal proceedings with the Office of Price Administration for the past ten months, announced that he was going out of the poultry business, says a news story in Jefferson City News and Tribune.

He said that he intends to lease his plant and equipment and will return to the printing business which he has maintained in the capital city since 1921.

The Botz Chickeries have been the subject of a dispute in Federal District Court here since last July when the OPA filed charges that the firm had been selling its products at a half-cent above ceiling prices. They asked $5,595 damages, treble the amount the OPA alleged as overcharges and filed a temporary injunction to keep him from selling at his former prices.

Collet Dismisses Suit

The case came to a head when Judge J. C. Collet ruled that there was no suggestion that the price of Botz's products had been increased over what it had long been and dismissed the case on its merits.

In his decision Collet declared that the shrinkage occasioned by the freezing process was more than enough to make up the difference between the two prices had the defendant's prices been applied to the unfrozen carcass.

Supreme Court Decision

The OPA then filed a motion for a new trial. In the meantime recent Supreme Court cases came to the attention of Judge Collet and he set aside his previous decision in favor of Botz, stating that the power to decide such cases rests with the administrative agencies (OPA) and the specific courts created for that purpose.

Relief Requests Ignored

Botz then applied for relief to the Regional OPA office in Dallas, to the main office in Washington, D. C., and even to the President. "All without result," he said.

Lift Embargo On Oil To Spain

Cut Be Made In Wolfram To Nazis By Agreement

By Flora Lewis

WASHINGTON, May 3—(P)—The Allies have lifted the embargo on oil shipments to Spain in exchange for a nine-tenths cut in that country's sales of wolfram to Germany.

With announcement of the compromise agreement, American and British diplomats turned renewed attention to paring down Portugal's sales to the Axis of this vital ore, which is used in hardening steel.

Anglo-American negotiations with Portugal, which ships considerably more of wolfram (tungsten ore) than Spain, began some time ago. It was believed that settlement of the Spanish question would speed the Lisbon talks.

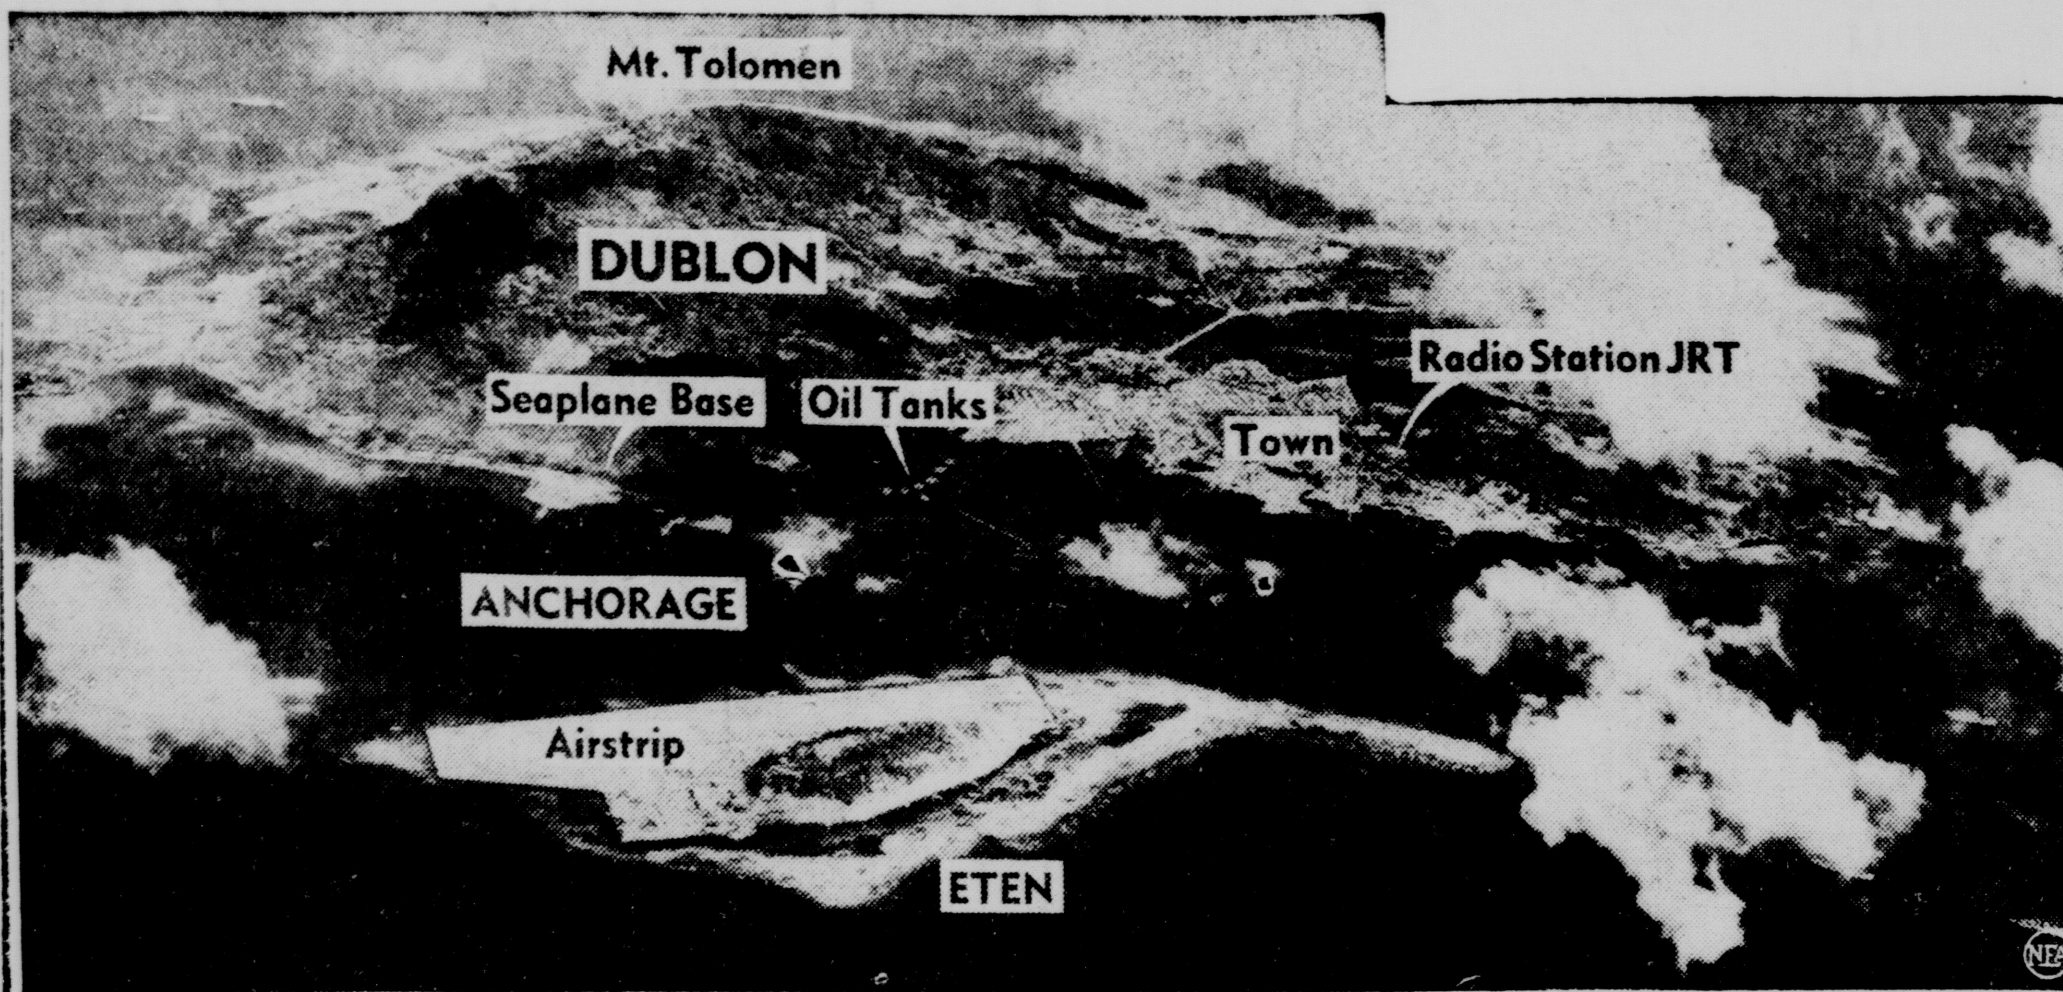

The United States and Britain have agreed with Spain that the Nazis may obtain not more than 20 tons of Spanish wolfram for each of the next two months, and not more than 40 tons monthly the rest of this year "if as a practical matter shipments can be made." This is about one tenth of what the Nazis expected to get, officials said.

Cut Off German Traffic
Clearly, state department and British foreign office officials who announced the settlement today expect that opening of the second front will cut off German traffic. Lifting of the Allied oil embargo permits shipments to be resumed under the former quota arrangement, with strict supervision to see that none of the petroleum goes to the Nazis.

Spain's wolfram production jumped tremendously during 1943, and in January of this year before the Allies cracked down with the oil embargo, the Nazis obtained 300 tons with the expectation of even greater increases.

The agreement with Spain also provides that Axis agents designated by the Allies are to be ousted from Spain, Spanish Morocco and Tangier; The German consulate and other Axis agencies in Tangier are to be closed; Five of seven Italian merchant ships interned by Spain are to be released immediately; The question of what to do with two other merchant vessels and Italian warships now in Spanish waters is to be arbitrated. The agreement states furthermore that all Spanish forces have withdrawn from the Russian front.

An agreement was reached early in the war that to preserve her neutrality, Portugal would divide her wolfram exports equally among Germany, Britain and the United States. Because of her cooperation with the Allies along other lines such as granting bases in the Azores, Portugal has not been the object of such pressure as was imposed on Spain.

The striking bomber-eye view photo, above, showing Dublon and Eten Islands, in the heart of Japan's great air and naval base at Truk, was taken from Navy planes which participated in task force assault which blasted 40 Jap ships, destroyed 201 planes and heavily damaged airfields, barracks and other military installations.

For Equality Pay To Teachers

JEFFERSON CITY, May 3—(P)—State funds would be withheld from all school districts which "permit differences in wages" paid Negro teachers with the same training and experience as white teachers under an amendment adopted, 28 to 25, by the constitutional convention Tuesday.

The present requirement that at least 25 per cent of the state's general revenue must be set aside for public schools was retained by the convention as it completed work on a proposed new education article in the constitution.

The legislature, through long custom, votes one-third of general revenue for school purposes.

A new provision, permitting the legislature to aid cities, counties or school districts in the support of free public libraries was adopted without argument.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Forty years have elapsed between the big business battles of Teddy Roosevelt and Cousin FDR, but one issue which plagued the former is also plaguing the latter and is now before congress. It is the question whether government irrigation, government water, and government reclamation shall benefit the big land owner or the small.

The issue is now one of the hottest fights both in California and in congress, where Secretary of the Interior Ickes has been called to testify on a rider which Congressmen Elliott and Carter of California have skillfully smuggled into the rivers and harbors bill — a rider permitting big landowners in California's central valley to benefit from government low-cost irrigation.

The question in Teddy Roosevelt's day was whether any farmer holding more than 160 acres should benefit from government irrigation. The issue arose when the land kings of the far west wanted to develop their ranches and speculative holdings through irrigation at government expense.

The west was for it, but the east objected. Eastern states claimed they would be footing the tax bill and that western irrigation would come out of their pockets. The west replied that the irrigation projects of that day would provide benefits for small eastern farmers who migrated westward tomorrow.

After a terrific battle, Teddy Roosevelt won out. Congress ruled that government irrigated land tracts must be limited to 160 acres.

That law still stands. But Republican congressman Carter of Oakland, California and Democratic Congressman Elliott of Tulare, California, have ganged up to change it with a rider exempting the central valley irrigation project.

Their amendment, already passed by the house, would mean that big ranchers in the central valley could benefit from the new irrigation project no matter how extensive their holdings. Even more important, it would mean that a lot of new land, not extensively cultivated at present, would be subjected to cut-throat speculation.

Ickes for Small Farms

Secretary of the Interior Ickes, who has supervised the expenditure of $150,000,000 on central valley irrigation, is determined that the benefits shall not go to land speculators and big ranchers, plus some of the big liquor companies which have bought up California's wineries.

Also, the interior department proposes to open some of the land to the use of veterans after the war and has found that 160 acres is the ideal size for one-family cultivation.

The issue, according to Secretary Ickes, is whether the USA is going to become a nation of large landowners hiring Okies and tenant farmers, or whether the nation will feature medium-sized farmers operating their own land.

Note — Business men in the central valley are split over the issue. Many merchants believe that medium-sized farms rather than poorer farm labor make for better business in neighboring towns. The Fresno Chamber of Commerce calls 60 to 80 acres of figs an economic unit for a family, or 80 to 120 acres of alfalfa. The chamber has sent out booklets urging settlers to take up small land tracts.

Vandenberg Cools on MacArthur Senator Vandenberg, hitherto chief rooster and adviser of MacArthur for president, was talking to MacArthur's ex-wife, Mrs. Alf Heiberg, after the general's anti-administration letters were published by Congressman Miller of Nebraska.

"How is Doug's campaign progressing?" asked Mrs. Heiberg. Vandenberg, who strongly dis-

Will Keep Serviceman's Dog

Six years ago, W. J. Elkin of Fort Worth, Tex., started "Dogville" in order to give homeless dogs a place to stay. The project started as a hobby but grew so fast he had to move into larger quarters in order to care for his numerous pets. His latest efforts turned into keeping soldiers' pet dogs and finding them a home until their owner returned. Corp. A. L. Meal brought his dog to "Dogville" and Mr. Elkin found a home for the animal. approved publication of MacArthur's critical letters, replied:

"I'm the ex-manager of your ex-husband."

Rush Holt for Governor

Demagogic ex-Senator Rush D. Holt, who came to Washington in 1935 as a progressive and left three years ago as an arch-isolationist crony of "Ham" Fish and Nye, is now running for the Democratic nomination for governor of West Virginia.

This campaign, of national significance, has escaped general attention, although Col. Robert McCormick's Chicago Tribune — Koran of the isolationists — has termed it one of the four most important primaries of the year. McCormick, who has been helping Holt, is right.

During his term in the senate, young Holt was a leading America Firster, spouting isolationist views in almost every speech. Evidence taken during the trial of George Sylvester Viereck two years ago revealed that Holt had known and cooperated with the Nazi propagandist. He even wrote a book for publication by the Nazi-controlled Flanders Hall publishing house. It was edited by Viereck and Sigfried Hauck of Flanders Hall, was set in type but never published.

Holt also joined Congressman Hamilton Fish, Stephen A. Day and others in permitting the use of his congressional frank by Viereck, now convicted for violating the foreign agents act and by Prescott Dennett, now indicted on a charge of sedition.

Opposing Holt is Judge Clarence Meadows of Beckley, former state attorney general. Meadows is younger than the erstwhile "Boy Wonder," is described as being as "American as the rightfield bleachers," and is waging a real fight.

Save Your Waste Paper

In your basement or attic are newspapers, magazines and corrugated boxes needed by the essential war industries of the United States. The waste paper in your house may be used to ship ammunitions, food and medical supplies to our armed forces throughout the world. Begin your spring house cleaning now and get all your waste paper together for the Sedalia Boy Scouts.

Next Sunday afternoon a scrap paper collection will begin in Sedalia at one o'clock. Tie each type of waste paper in separate bundles: one bundle for newspapers, one for magazines, and another for corrugated board. Place the bundles at the curb in front of your home and a truck will stop for them. Give what you have, even if it is only a few pounds of paper.

The Boy Scouts with the Pettis County Council of Defense need trucks in order to make the scrap paper collection a success. Any local business firm which has a truck to loan next Sunday afternoon will please call the Chamber of Commerce office, 895 or 896, and indicate willingness to cooperate in the scrap paper collection.

THE STORY: Lieut. Link Belt, Army Air Corps radioman, is interned in Nii Prison, Yokohama. His plane was brought down while bombing Tokyo. Without apparent reason, he is taken from his cave cell to the office of Captain Azaraski, commander of the prison. He is dismayed at the detailed information Azaraski seems to possess about him.

PILOT OFFICER BALDWIN

IV

"SURPRISED you, did I?" The Jap beamed.
"You practically took my hair off," Link admitted. "As a matter of fact, I do not recall that anybody in the U. S. Air Corps knew I belonged to the Its Club."

Azaraski consulted a wrist watch. "Link, I am pushed for time," he said. "What do you say we talk about it later. Some other time. You can go back to the cell now."

"This," said Link suspiciously, "is all that will come of this?"
"That's it. Just checking up," Azaraski sat down and picked up another document. "Sorry if we made you nervous."

Azaraski waved at two soldiers, said in Japanese, "Return Lieutenant Belt to the cell. And bring me"—he examined the document he had picked up—"Pilot Officer Baldwin, the Australian."

In English, he told Link, "By all means, let's do have a talk some time. I mean that. I've always been interested in osteopathy."

Then Azaraski jumped up. "Say, I have it," he called. "What about tonight? Why don't you have dinner with me?"

"Of course not," said Azaraski. "We could go out to my home. I believe you would enjoy that. What about it?"

Link, who was puzzled, and who had been in a Jap jail long enough to be alarmed by the whole thing, asked, "Do I have any choice?"

"Don't be so suspicious," Azaraski said. "Say we make it about six o'clock. That's fine. I'll be seeing you, then. Six tonight."

"I don't suppose," said Link, "that I'll be hard to find."

THE prisoners had a word game going in the cell. Pilot Officer Baldwin was playing with them. They were having a row over whether a word was in the dictionary.

"You're all crows," Link said. "For all you knew, they might have taken me off to bayonet me in the posterior, the way they like to do."

Baldwin looked at Link in surprise. "You seem to have survived," he said. "What did they do to you, anyway?"

"I got invited out to dinner," Link said.

"You're joking!" "Maybe you'll get an invitation, too," Link said. "The bull of the woods told them to fetch you up next."

Baldwin didn't think it was funny. When he realized Azaraski had actually sent for him, he raised a commotion.

But Baldwin walked out of the cell without the Jap soldiers having to lay hands on him. In the hall, however, he refused to start climbing stairs with his bad foot.

Surprisingly, the soldiers gave in, and they all went up in the elevator. Once they were out of sight and hearing of the cell, Baldwin's attitude toward the soldiers changed. He elbowed one of them out of his way.

Azaraski noticed Baldwin's attitude toward the Jap soldiers when the man entered.

"Leave us alone," Azaraski told the soldiers in Japanese. When the soldiers had tramped out and closed the door, Azaraski told Baldwin, "You are a little brazen toward my men, aren't you? They think you are only an informer."

Baldwin shrugged. "They hate all white men, don't they? They tried to make me walk up those stairs with this foot," He walked around Azaraski's desk, pulled open drawers and searched. "Where do you keep those American cigarettes?" he demanded.

Azaraski gave him a cigarette, then went over and opened the door to make sure none of his soldiers had their ears to the keyhole. He came back and said, "I invited Lincoln Belt out for dinner."

BALDWIN stared at the smoke from the cigarette.

"That's fine," he said. "Now Link is as suspicious as a rooster with a rubber worm."

"Think how he's going to feel before we're done with him," Azaraski said cheerfully.

"I guess there's no gentle way of sucking him in," Baldwin admitted. "He's an osteopath, all right. I had him dress my foot again this afternoon, and now I'm sure of it. The way he worked on the muscles to get the soreness out, he knew what he was doing."

"You should have seen his face," Azaraski said, "when I asked him how he'd like to be sitting on the porch of the Its Club."

Baldwin took his cigarette off his lips and stared at the other.

"You're pretty casual, aren't you," he said.

"Oh, our Intelligence assembled the information on Link," said Azaraski.

"I guessed as much. But aren't you afraid of seeming a little too interested?"

The remark jabbed Azaraski. He did not want to show Baldwin that he was uneasy, but he could not help glancing about the office, looking at the pictures, the moulding, spots where a microphone could be concealed.

Suppose there was a microphone hidden somewhere? He didn't think there was. But it could be. He wished now that he had been more honest in the past. It would have been better if he had not bought the fine home in the Nogeeyama quarter a few months ago. He could not have come within many thousand yen of saving the cost of the place on his captain's salary.

Azaraski felt the need of a drink. (To Be Continued)

Sedalia Streets Will be Marked

New markers will be put up at the intersections of all the streets and avenues of Sedalia within the next few weeks.

Tuesday the markers were posted on light poles up and down Ohio avenue. Made of wood, they are painted black with orange lettering and are easily read from a distance.

They are being made in the city repair shop, under supervision of Mr. Atkinson, though they were first being made some time ago when Elmer Herrmann was city engineer.

About two hundred of the wooden pieces have been cut and must be painted. All the work is being done in spare time. "Each rainy day will see a few more of them up, and it looks as if we'll put up a good many, as often as it rains," said Atkinson.

Jail No Place For Ones Under Seventeen

JOPLIN, Mo., May 3.—(P)—Asserting that he is placing "faith and trust" in the youth of Jasper county, Juvenile Judge John H. Flanigan Tuesday issued an order from the bench forbidding any law enforcement officers in the county to lock any juvenile under 17 in any jail, city or county.

Judge Flanigan said that if any boy or girl under 17 must be detained, he or she should be turned over to the Rev. William Kelley, probation officer, who would find a suitable place to keep them until they can be taken to court. A jail, the jurist held, is no place for a boy or a girl.

"B" and "C" Owners Can Get New Tires

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, April 25.—The Office of Price Administration broadened today the list of persons eligible to buy new passenger car tires to take in all motorists holding "B" and "C" gasoline ration books.

The move, effective May 1, will provide new tires for all occupational driving. OPA Administrator Chester Bowles said it was made possible by a substantial increase in civilian allocations of new synthetics by the office of the rubber director.

In a further broadening of eligibility for passenger tires, OPA also announced that "A" book motorists, heretofore ineligible for any tires, will now be able to buy used tires, though only a few of these remain.
